The Learning Commons' Academic Success Workshop Series
Summer 2014 Schedule

Academic success workshops are open to all Regis students and are free of charge! Please register for workshops with The Learning Commons Administrative Assistant at Learningcommons@regis.edu or 303-964-6591. Please include your full name, email address, and phone number.

May 2014

SUNDAY	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
				1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10 Academic Writing 9am-12pm, Colorado Springs Campus, Room 109.
11	12	13	14	15	16	17 Learning Fast & Smart 9am-12pm, Lowell Campus, Clarke Hall 139.
18	19	20	21	22	23	24 MEMORIAL DAY WEEKEND No Workshop
25	26	27	28	29	30	31 ABC's of Case Study Design 9am-12pm, Lowell Campus, Clarke Hall 139.

Saturday, May 10th, 9:00am-12:00pm: Academic Writing
Michael Garcia, CPS Affiliate Faculty, Colorado Springs Campus, Room CS109.
Is academic writing a mystery to you? Does the thought of preparing a formal essay or an academic paper give you chills? Come learn from expert, Michael Garcia, how to prepare and organize an effective academic paper and learn strategies for successful research writing.

Saturday, May 17th, 9:00am-12:00pm: Learning Fast and Smart
Dr. Marie Fox, Regis Faculty, Lowell Campus, Clarke Hall Room 139
Regis accelerated courses pose a challenge for busy adults. Rise to that challenge and maximize your learning by acquiring study strategies that no one told you about or are rusty. Join Dr. Marie Fox, Regis faculty member, and learn the art of efficient and effective studying, comprehension, and retention. Dr. Fox will focus on speed reading, notation, planning study sessions, and using tutorial resources. For even better results, consider enrolling in additional Workshops on Writing, Electronic Research, and A-B-C's of Designing Case Studies, Research Papers, and Projects.

Saturday, May 31st, 9:00am-12:00pm: The A-B-C's of Case Study Design
Dr. Marie Fox, Regis Faculty, Lowell Campus, Clarke Hall Room139
Do you become excited, anxious, or a bit of both when planning case study analyses, designing studies for your Research Methods courses, and doing your Capstone project at the undergraduate and/or graduate levels? Does your head spin when trying to isolate an issue or topic? Join Dr. Marie Fox, Regis faculty member and design expert, and learn a "tried and true template" for analyzing case studies, focusing on a project topic, and systematically completing a project.

June 2014

SUNDAY	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
1	2	3	4	5	6	7 Library Research 9am-12pm, Lowell Campus, DML Room 310 Academic Writing 9am-12pm, Thornton Campus, Room 139.
8	9	10	11	12	13	14 Statistics Made Simple 9am-12pm, Lowell Campus, Clarke Hall 138.
15	16	17	18	19	20	21 Statistics Made Simple II-Academic & Professional Applications 9am-12pm, Lowell Campus, Clarke Hall 206.
22	23	24	25	26	27	28 Writing With APA Guidelines 9am-12pm, Lowell Campus, Clarke Hall 139.
29	30

Saturday, June 7th, 9:00am-12:00pm: Library Research
Paul Betty, Regis University Distance Service Librarian, Lowell Campus, Dayton Memorial Library Room 310
Do your Google searches lead you to perfect articles, but for a price? Come learn how to find those same articles through Regis library databases at no cost, as well as how to maximize your online searching power. Tom Riedel, Regis University Distance Services Librarian and research professional, will increase your knowledge of and skills with electronic databases.

Saturday, June 7th, 9:00am- 12:00pm: Academic Writing
Michael Garcia, CPS Affiliate Faculty, Thornton Campus, Room TH139
Is academic writing a mystery to you? Does the thought of preparing a formal essay or an academic paper give you chills? Come learn from expert, Michael Garcia, how to prepare and organize an effective academic paper and learn strategies for successful research writing.

Saturday, June 14th, 9:00am-12:00pm: Statistics Made Simple
Dr. Marie Fox, Regis Faculty, Lowell Campus, Clarke Hall Room 138
Does the thought of numbers and statistics make your eyes glaze? Learn how to make sense of statistical expressions and interpretations. Find out how we actually apply statistics in daily decisions. We'll use pictures and stories to turn "sadistics" back into "statistics." Join Dr. Marie Fox, Regis faculty member and statistical pro, to understand how to make sense of statistics. This workshop is a wonderful way to prepare for your statistics course or brush up if you took the course a while ago.

Saturday, June 21st, 9:00am-12:00pm: Statistics Made Simple II- Academic and Professional Applications
Dr. Marie Fox, Regis Faculty, Lowell Campus, Clarke Hall Room 206
Join in as we use actual studies from several domains to demystify the data analysis and results sections. We'll address your concerns, including mysteries related to the following questions. Do you know what the +/- of polling results really means? Does sample size really matter? Do you wonder what statistical significance really means? Join Dr. Marie Fox, Regis faculty member and statistical pro, in a fun atmosphere to learn how to make sense of published data and statistical expressions.

Saturday, June 28th, 9:00am-12:00pm: Writing with APA (American Psychological Association) Guidelines
Kerry Mitchell, CPS Faculty, Lowell Campus, Clarke Hall Room 139
Is the APA a "big monster" idea? Attend this workshop with Kerry Mitchell, CPS faculty member and APA expert, if you need to know about APA guidelines in formatting, citing, and researching your papers.

July 2014

SUNDAY	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
		1	2	3	4	5 INDEPENDENCE DAY WEEKEND No Workshop
6	7	8	9	10	11	12 Student Veterans and the Regis Tradition 9am-12pm, Lowell Campus & online, Clarke Hall 139.
13	14	15	16	17	18	19
20	21	22	23	24	25	26
27	28	29	30	31

Saturday, July 12th, 9:00am-12:00pm: Student Veterans and the Regis Tradition

John Sweet, Military & Veterans Services Coordinator, Lowell Campus (Clarke Hall 139), Colorado Springs campus-VRC, and online (https://connect.regis.edu/jsweet/)

Military veterans have been a part of the Regis community since the final days of World War II, but each new generation has had to face its own, unique challenges. More significantly, each generation has contributed to the academic climate and brought more experience and sophistication to the learning environment. This workshop will put current Regis students, faculty and staff together to share, explore and challenge ideas and attitudes about military veterans in the Regis classroom. Through interactive and experiential activities, as well as some traditional lecture/discussion, this 3-hour program might fundamentally change how you see others and yourself.